Georgian Wine Guild

ABOUT

We are one of the largest family-owned Georgian wine importers in the UK, proudly showcasing the finest hand-picked wines from our own vineyards and other Georgian producers. Our portfolio includes both large-scale wineries and small artisanal producers, all dedicated to crafting exceptional, limited-edition wines.

With generations of expertise and a passion for traditional methods, we deeply love winemaking. Each bottle in our collection reflects Georgian wine's unique taste and history, blending contemporary and ancient techniques that honour the hard work and distinctive terroir of Georgian winemakers.

We offer the most competitive prices for Georgian wines in the UK, without any middleman involvement and with an extensive collection spanning every region of Georgia.

Let us help you find the perfect bottle for any occasion, and join us in exploring the rich heritage and exceptional quality of Georgian wine.

THE ANCIENT CLAY VESSELS THE QVEVRI METHOD

The Qvevri method, in which wine is fermented and aged in earthenware clay vessels, is the hallmark of Georgian wine and was designated by UNESCO in 2013 as an intangible cultural heritage of humanity. Wine plays a significant role in Georgian culture, interwoven with folklore, architecture, and fine art. The legacy of winemaking, passed down through generations, is a symbol of the deep history and cultural heritage of Georgian civilization.

Ancient Wine making Method

Georgian wine-making method is an ancient and unique practice that dates back over 8 000 years. As the birthplace of wine, Georgia takes pride in its rich history of viticulture and winemaking, supported by recent discoveries of 8 000-year-old grape seeds and vine remnants in ancient clay vessels.
